

TO TAXPAYERS WANTING Tax-Exempt Vermont Bonds Netting 4 1/4 Per Cent.

There is no more desirable line of investment for a man or woman who insists upon absolute safety than Vermont Municipal Tax-Exempt Bonds.

Such a thing as a defaulting Vermont town or Vermont village bond has not been heard of for generations. All the property of every taxpayer in the town or village is holden to pay its bonds.

The Lamoille County Savings Bank & Trust Company at Hyde Park makes a specialty of dealing in Vermont bonds and always has on hand a fine line to sell, at bottom figures, to those who wish to purchase.

Parties who, in view of the new tax law, think it wise to place a part or all of their taxable funds in these extra-safe tax-exempt bonds—in every case made tax-exempt by the act of the Vermont legislature—are invited to write to the Hyde Park Savings Bank.

These bonds are exempt from United States income tax and will be sold at a price to net the purchaser 4 1/4 per cent. per annum.

EAST CALAIS

The East Calais circulating library has just received an addition of 52 new books which will be placed on the shelves at once and may be taken out any time after Monday.

Franklyn and Harold Dwinell of U. V. M., Burlington, are at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dell B. Dwinell, for their vacation.

Mrs. John Emery returned home on Wednesday from Massachusetts, where she has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Grace Ladeau.

Charlotte Peck of Montpelier high school is at home for her vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Dwinell were in East Montpelier Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Anna Robbins.

PLAINFIELD

Monday is positively the last chance. Plainfield play-lovers will have to see the Nellie Gill Players in "Paid in Full." If the condensed version, seen here a few weeks ago, was gratifying, the complete four-act version, used on this coming Monday, will be doubly appreciated. These Players are now presenting it just as it was presented in New York City for two solid years. Reserved seats on sale at the drug store. No advance in prices.—Adv.

MARSHFIELD

Mrs. William Martin of Stanton, Va., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Prouty over Sunday.

W. D. Smith of Dorchester, Mass., is visiting his father, C. D. Smith.

Rev. C. H. Chapin was called to Hancock, N. H., Wednesday to attend the funeral of a former parishioner.

Miss Ruth Sargent of Barre is the guest of Miss Mabel Mears.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shortt and Miss Ruby Davis left Wednesday night for Boston.

The entertainment given by the high school students last week Friday evening was well attended and much enjoyed by all present. It included vocal and instrumental music, drills and prize speaking. The pupils all acquitted themselves very creditably. The prizes were awarded as follows: Percy Pitkin, first; Leola Taft, second; Stanley Lyndes, third. The Marshfield band was in attendance and furnished music for promenading.

Paul Pitkin is home from Goddard for the Easter vacation.

H. C. Morse narrowly escaped a serious accident Wednesday while working in May's mill at Peacham pond. His sleeve caught in the machinery and his arm was badly bruised, but fortunately help was near, so that he was released before any bones were broken.

Mrs. Julia Blake returned Wednesday from Burlington, where she has been to visit her daughter, who is ill in the hospital there.

Mrs. Grace Carr is visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. D. Ormsbee.

The Pythian poverty promenade Tuesday evening drew an unusually large crowd. Judging from the apparel worn, it might seem that the effects of the war and hard times had struck this community very forcibly; but the spirit of the assembly was conclusive evidence that the real life of the people had not been seriously affected. Mrs. Kitchener's famous band certainly made a great hit, meeting with almost overwhelming ovation at every appearance. The male quartet and farce were duly appreciated, after which the band furnished music for promenading and dancing until the small hours of the morning, refreshments being served in the meantime.

The annual meeting of the ladies' aid society was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Bondy with a very good attendance. After a devotional and literary program the following officers were elected: Vice-president, Mrs. A. L. Preston; secretary, Mrs. G. L. Dwinell; treasurer, Mrs. L. D. Nute; apron committee, Mrs. D. S. Hall, Mrs. E. L. Spencer, Mrs. D. Nute, Mrs. A. L. Preston, Mrs. E. H. Taft; fancy work committee, Mrs. S. Swerdberg; Miss A. L. Burnham, Mrs. Amelia Wooster, Mrs. C. E. Thwing, Mrs. Flora Bliss; missionary committee, Mrs. C. H. Chapin, Mrs. E. L. Spencer, Mrs. E. C. Pitkin. Three new members joined the society at this meeting. Mrs. Melinda Bemis is to act as president for the coming month. Reports showed a successful year.

GROTON

G. W. Pillsbury of Lebanon, N. H., was a recent visitor in town.

The Groton Electric company, which commenced work at their saw mill, Mrs. Roy Blanchard has been at South Ryegate several days this week, called there by the illness of her father, Henry Lindsey.

Cards have been received here announcing the marriage of Miss Niva Ricker to William Clark Chamberlin of Newbury. The ceremony took place Wednesday, March 24, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Ricker, at Billerica, Mass.

Alexander Cochrane of Wells River was in town Thursday.

The Needlecraft club will meet Thursday, April 1, with Mrs. Ernest Taisley. The item in Wednesday's paper in regard to parties purchasing automobiles, should have read Lewis Keenan instead of Ernest Keenan.

Mrs. Katherine McAnna, who has been caring for Miss Jennie Wrinkle, has returned to her home in Ryegate.

Mrs. Edward Purcell went to Montpelier Wednesday to attend the week session of the legislature.

Charles Adams of Hardwick and lady friend, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Adams.

Representative and Mrs. Butler of Island Pond, visited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Purcell Monday and Tuesday. Mrs. Butler is a sister of Mrs. Purcell.

Rev. F. W. Lewis went to Barton Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mr. Webster, a former parishioner.

Mrs. William Reid, and son, Edwin, of Montpelier are visiting Mrs. Reid's father, A. S. Clark.

Judge Thomas R. Hall was a visitor at Montpelier Wednesday and Thursday, the guest of his son-in-law, Representative L. S. Blanchard.

Harold Eastman left Tuesday for Indianapolis, Ind., where he has a position with the U. S. Auto Tire company.

Miss Mattie Jordan was home from her work at Ryegate the first of the week.

Next Sunday being Palm Sunday, the day will be observed at the Methodist church by appropriate services and special music. Holy week will be observed with services every evening except Saturday, beginning Monday. The pastor will speak on the following subjects: Monday, "The Cleansing of the Temple"; Tuesday, "The Withered Fig Tree"; Wednesday, "The Day of Silence"; and "Jesus, a Man's Model." Thursday, "The Lord's Supper Instituted." Friday, "The Seven Sayings."

ILLEGAL SHIPMENTS.

Of Fish Alleged by the State Fish and Game Department.

Burlington, March 27.—A strenuous effort is being made by the state fish and game department to stop the shipping of fish from Canada to Boston and New York markets in violation of the law. One big consignment of fish has been stopped at St. Albans by the department and another lot was discovered here and shipped back to Montreal.

The authorities find that fishermen in Canada near the border catch fish in Mississippi bay and ship it to points in Vermont to be reshipped to Boston or New York, where the fish bring high prices. The inspectors who discovered the consignment here and in St. Albans found the fish consigned in the name of the baron, perch being packed at each end.

The fish are usually billed to a person here or at some other station along the way, and then reshipped by him to their destination, the name of the sender being hidden beneath the flap of the shipping tag.

HOW TO CLEAR AWAY PIMPLES

Bathe your face for several minutes with resinal soap and hot water, then apply a little resinal ointment very gently. Let this stay on ten minutes, and wash off with resinal soap and more hot water, finishing with a dash of cold water to close the pores. Do this once or twice a day, and you will be astonished to find how quickly the healing resinal medication soothes and cleanses the pores, removes pimples and blackheads, and leaves the complexion clear and velvety.

Resinal ointment and resinal soap stop itching instantly and speedily heal skin humors, sores, burns, wounds and chafing. Sold by all druggists.

SOAP FOR BABY'S TENDER SKIN
The regular use of resinal soap is usually enough to prevent those distressing rashes and chafings to which most babies are subject. This is so, first, because resinal soap is absolutely pure and free from harsh alkali, and second, because it contains the resinal medication, on which so many physicians rely for skin troubles.

MONTPELIER

In city court yesterday, William McKane, a woodsman from Burlington, pleaded guilty to a second offense of intoxication and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. ## BURLINGTON LICENSEE FINED.

John W. Daley Pleaded Guilty to Violation of Fourth Class License.

Burlington, March 27.—In Chittenden county court yesterday, the case of state against John W. Daley was disposed of by respondent pleading guilty to violating the provisions of a fourth class license, by selling liquor to one who did not have a license. Mr. Daley was fined $200 and costs, or an alternative sentence. He will pay the fine.

The jury in the Poulos vs. Peters case got the case at the opening of court and after an hour's deliberation, brought in a verdict for the plaintiff to recover $60 and costs, the amount asked for.

DYSPEPSIA ON THE DECLINE.

Seaver's Dyspepsia Tablets Cure 49 Cases Out of 50.

"Why anyone in Barre, East Barre, or Cabot should continue to suffer with indigestion when a box of SEAEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS will cure, is certainly a mystery. Red Cross Pharmacy, Frank Roark, and S. C. Voodyer & Co. have been selling SEAEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS for some time, and they know from actual experience right here in their own stores just what SEAEVER'S FAMOUS DYSPEPSIA TABLETS will do, and if you inquire of Red Cross Pharmacy, Frank Roark, or S. C. Voodyer & Co. they will tell you they never knew a remedy to prove so decidedly beneficial in the treatment of indigestion, dyspepsia, palpitation, sleeplessness and other forms of stomach trouble.

It certainly ought to give you confidence when you know that every 50 box of SEAEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS contains 30 days' treatment, and at the end of that time if you are not decidedly benefited, all you need to do is to go back to the dealer and get your money. SEAEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS are sold right on their own merits. They cure indigestion simply by tuning up the stomach and digestive organs so that the food will assimilate and give strength to the system, just as nature intended. SEAEVER'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS are such a good nerve tonic, too. Just try a box and see if it doesn't give you new energy, new ambition and new courage to carry out your plans and daily work. If it doesn't, your money back.—Adv.

HIS BEST CHUM

By EUNICE BLAKE

Johnny Hoxey, aged fourteen, went to bed one night with a splitting headache. The next morning he remained in slumber, and no effort to awaken him availed. He did not seem to be in pain, sleeping tranquilly. He remained asleep week after week, month after month and year after year. He needed very little food, and that was given him by various methods devised by the doctors. He slept seven years in the same room, in which no change was made during that time.

When Johnny went to sleep a little girl thirteen years old was his "best chum," as he called her. They were in the same class in the same school and used to study their lessons together, for Lucy Treadwell lived directly across the street from Johnny, and they had not far to go to reach each other. Lucy grew from childhood to womanhood, seeing almost daily a person of the opposite sex who was in a perpetual slumber.

One day Johnny showed signs of waking. For a week there was hope that he would do so, but those about him had been so often disappointed that they had lost confidence in his recovery. But he did awaken, and when he came to himself he was alone.

He lay for some time, after becoming conscious, with closed eyes, thinking of his sufferings "the night before," as he supposed it was, and feeling much relieved to be out of pain. Then he attempted to turn on his other side. He was surprised to find himself very weak. Lying in bed without using his muscles had taken his strength. While on his back he opened his eyes, still seeing nothing but the ceiling. Hearing a step in the room, he turned so that he could see a young woman sitting beside a window reading. She was unknown to him. When Johnny as a boy had awakened in the morning and did not have to go to school he usually lay in bed reading.

"Is this Saturday?" he asked. The girl started, and Johnny was astonished at the sound of his voice. The girl rose excitedly, came to his bedside, then ran immediately out of the room. Johnny in his amazement thrashed about and while doing so put his hand to his face. It was covered with hair.

"What in the world?" he began. And, sitting up in bed, he saw in a mirror the reflection of a man. He was dumfounded. He moved, and the reflection moved. After it had followed several of his movements he covered his face with the bedclothes and gave way to a nervous chill.

Hearing persons hurrying into the room, he threw off the clothes. His mother, looking much older than "the night before," ran into the room, followed by the young woman, who had gone out of it, and, taking him in her arms, sobbed:

"My dear boy! Heaven be thanked!" "What is it, mother?" cried the frightened John. "Something strange has happened! How big I am! How rough my voice! I seem to have grown to be a man overnight!"

"You have grown to be a man, dear, but not overnight. You went to bed one night when you were a boy and have slept continuously ever since."

There was silence for some time while a realization of this singular announcement was working its way into John's brain. Then he asked a dozen questions so rapidly that his mother found difficulty in answering one before another came forth. Finally he pointed to the girl, who seemed as much affected by his recovery as his mother, and asked who she was.

"She is—was your best chum, Lucy Treadwell."

"Good gracious," exclaimed John wonderingly, "is that Lucy?"

"Yes, I'm Lucy. I've prayed for your waking ever since your long sleep began."

"She has been here nearly every day since your slumber began," said John's mother.

"And happened to be here when I woke," said John, and he put out both hands to her. "What a woman you're grown to be! How old are you—I mean how old am I?"

"You're twenty-one, and you know that I'm a year younger than you. That makes me twenty. Can you see any trace of your 'best chum' in me?"

"A trace only," replied John. "You were a pretty little girl then; you are a beautiful woman now."

Mrs. Hoxey said she must go and call the doctor at once. John must not get excited and take no action whatever till the doctor had seen him and given directions concerning him.

John obeyed the first injunction, but soon forgot all about the last. His mother had no sooner left the room than he reached for Lucy's hand and drew her to a seat beside him.

"So you have been here constantly since I have been in slumberland. Why did you come so regularly?"

Lucy turned away her head.

"You were my 'best chum,' and you have proved yourself worthy of the name. I don't seem to know whether I'm boy or man. I remember the kiss I gave you yesterday—I mean before I went to sleep. I wonder, should I kiss you now, would it taste the same?"

"I don't know," was the reply. The face still averted.

John put his arms about her, drew her down to him and kissed her.

"It's worth a thousand of the others," he said.

A Great Principle. "Forgive me, mother," said the earnest man. "That's good religion." "Yes," replied Senator Burgham, "and sometimes it's good politics too."—Washington Star.

CARE OF THE HOT-BEDS AND COLD-FRAMES.

Ventilation, Temperature, and Moisture, the Keynote to Success.

Some gardeners prefer planting their early seeds in what are known as flats (shallow boxes about 14x20 inches in size and two to four inches deep), and setting them on warm soil in the hot-beds, while others prefer to sow directly in the beds, claiming that in this way they obtain better results. Both methods, however, have their good points in its favor, namely, convenience. Flats are easily made from ordinary-sized cracker boxes, and one of the size mentioned will hold from 300 to 800 cabbage, lettuce, celery, cauliflower, or beet plants, and from 250 to 600 tomatoes, eggplants, or peppers.

Among the vegetables which may be started in March in the latitude of New York, Chicago and Kansas City are: Beets, cabbage, cauliflower, tomatoes, celery, cucumber, eggplant, lettuce, peppers and radishes. The seeds should be sown in rows four to six inches apart, covered with a thin layer of dry sifted compost and pressed evenly and firmly with a flat narrow board.

Early Planting.
The first planting of seeds should be of the early varieties, the second planting made about ten days later, should include eggplant, tomatoes and peppers; the third sowing, made about the first week in April, should include muskmelons, sweet corn, lima beans, cucumbers, and summer squash. All these later seeds should be planted in paper pots about five or six inches in diameter, in a rich compost of fine soil and old well-rotted, sifted manure. The seedlings of the first sowing, as soon as they are ready (which is when the second true leaf begins to show) are transplanted, setting about 150 in a flat. Or, in case the seeds have been sown directly in the soil of the
